PROTECTING THE SKIN YOU'RE IN Effective Strategies for Skincare

With over 9,500 people being diagnosed with skin cancer every day, it's important to implement skin protection habits year-round. We'll be joined by Dr. Lakshi Aldredge, Dermatology Nurse Practitioner, VA Portland Health Care System, and member of the Women's Health Advisory Council to share insights about effective strategies for skin protection, recognizing suspicious mole or skin changes, and adopting a proactive approach when it comes to skin health.
